

LOCAL GATHERINGS

—C. E. Kirk has sold the property at the corner of Summer and Central streets to O. K. Chesley, who will change it into a first class rooming house.

The fine fall weather Sunday, made the automobile traffic through St. Johnsbury as heavy as at any time during the summer, and among the noticeable things were the many motorists who took to the back road to enjoy the changing scenes of nature.

—Places of business owned by Jews in St. Johnsbury were all closed Thursday in observance of a Jewish holiday.

—The Summer street school team defeated the baseball team of the Summerville school by a score of 12 to 5. Taylor did some heavy hitting and Lincoln Marshall played well in the field.

—C. F. Beck was the host at the monthly "get together" of the Beck family which was held at his home on Concord avenue, Friday evening. Supper was served and a pleasant evening enjoyed.

—St. Johnsbury will have a completed armory within a short time if the work continues with as much rapidity as has been shown recently. The brick wall has risen above the window casings that have been set in on three sides, and the large front door casing has been put in place, and partly bricked around it. Work on other portions of the building is being carried on with equal speed.

—A special meeting of Chamberlain Post will be held at G. A. R. hall, Wednesday afternoon, October 4, at 2:30 o'clock, to which the "Associates" are especially invited. Refreshments will be served at 12:30 p. m.

—A program of readings and dances was given by Miss Madeline Randall at Peacham, Thursday evening for the benefit of the Alumni association of Peacham academy. She was accompanied at the piano by Miss Eunice McGilvray. The Sargents orchestra furnished music for promenade afterglows.

—Repairs have been made to the streets at the corner of Eastern avenue and Railroad street. New macadam has been laid where the street had become rutted from traffic.

—The Inter-state checker tournament between New York and Vermont began September 29, and will last until it is finished, probably all winter. There are five players on a side and there will be four games for each player. The first moves were made by T. H. Brown of Rensselaer, N. Y., and William Gill of St. Johnsbury in a correspondence match.

—At a meeting of the committee in charge of the M. C. A. building and the official of the City Mission, held Friday evening, plans were considered for leaving the City Mission in the Y. M. C. A. building for a longer space of time, instead of moving back to the old quarters in the Pythian building. Although a satisfactory basis was not reached at the time, it is probable an arrangement agreeable to all parties concerned will be made in the near future.

—The approach to the Fairbanks shops have been improved by the laying of a new concrete sidewalk which extends the length of the buildings fronting the road. Further improvements are the extension of the walk from the street to the workshop entrance, and the grading that has been done in front of the general office, preparatory to seeding. It is expected that by another summer the entire front will be one large, green lawn.

—The ladies of St. Aloysius church will serve a harvest supper, at Pythian hall, tonight, from 6 to 9 o'clock. Music during the supper. Price 25 cents.—Adv.
